The outlook for people in debt: MAPS

- 2013: 9.2 million people are in serious debt and 2.1 million are struggling with repayments
- 2023: 8 to 10 million people in serious debt and over 2 million people are struggling with repayments

Better Debt Advice

People who need debt advice

32% = 1.7m

have accessed the debt advice they need

adults

National Goal

2m more

people accessing debt advice in

2030

People will access and receive high quality debt advice when they need it, because of stronger and earlier engagement, and because funding, supply and services more closely match need.

The outlook for debt advice: Stepchange

- 2013: 508k people contacted Stepchange; demand driven by unemployment or a fall in income
- 2023: 581k people contact Stepchange; a cost of living increase was the main driver

- A 'cost of living increase' is the second most common reason for debt, up by nine percentage points year-on-year to 15% in 2022
- The mean monthly surplus per client has decreased from £100 in 2021 to £73 in 2022
- The proportion of clients with a negative budget is 29% in 2022 and notably higher among clients in receipt of Universal Credit (46%)
- One third (33%) of clients were in arrears with their energy bills in 2022
- The mean unsecured debt amount per client increased by 25% year-on-year to £13,941
- Credit cards (66%) remain as the most common unsecured debt type held by clients
- In 2022, two in five (40%) StepChange clients were in full-time employment (2021=37%)
- StepChange continues to advise a growing proportion of women (63% in 2022 vs. 61% in 2021)
- We advised a growing proportion of those aged between 25-39, up by two percentage points in 2022 to 48%
- We also advised a higher proportion of single parents, accounting for one in four clients (26%)

Council's view of people in council tax arrears: LIFT

Councils are seeing a small jump in the proportion of low income households in council tax arrears.

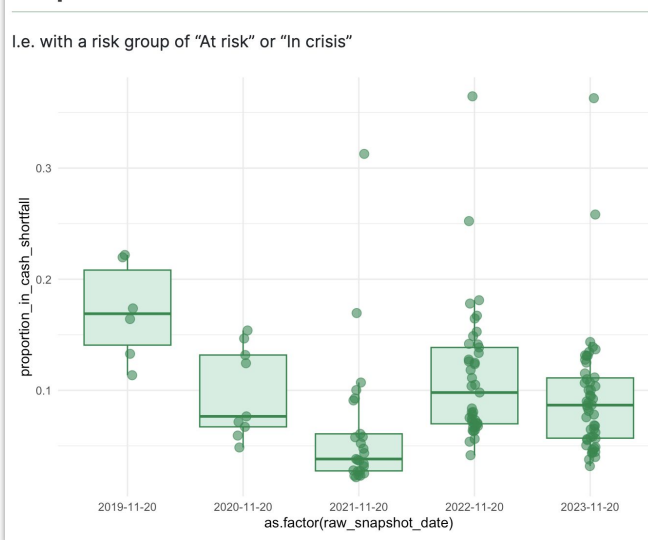

And a similarly big jump on the households in cash shortfall, or facing a negative budget.

All while council tax continues to rise.

Proportion of LIFT cohort in CT arrears

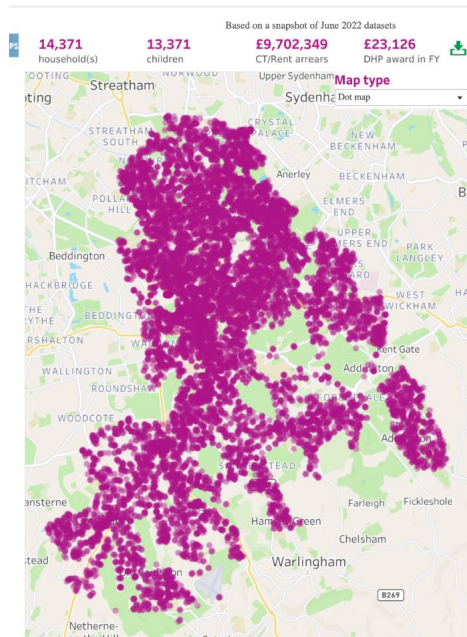

Proportion of all LIFT cohort in cash shortfall

Councils can do something to help households in debt

Councils can pinpoint which of their residents are in debt and struggling to repay.

They can use their benefits data to identify unclaimed benefits and better target discretionary support to improve collection and more importantly improve lives.

Core challenges with benefits

In addition to the complexity associated with the financial lives of low income households, there are 3 main challenges that impact benefit take up

Problem 1

Awareness

Individuals don't know what they don't know and often don't think that they would be eligible.

Problem 2

Application complexity

Applying for benefits is not a simple process and requires a significant burden of proof

Problem 3

Stigma

Some individuals still feel that benefits are for other people & that there is a stigma attached.

A combination of these 3 factors means that significant benefits go unclaimed each year

How are we tackling the awareness challenge?

Reactive to proactive

We work with Local Authorities today to proactively target people for assessment

How does this work?

Pension Credit Case Study

The campaign, supported by Age UK London & GLA, saw over 8,000 eligible Londoners in 17 boroughs receive letters inviting them to claim

Ultimately, in this group 2,300 individuals claimed an average of nearly £4,000 per annum totalling over £8m in incremental support

In addition we secured an incremental £2m in backdated pension credit

All from one campaign in one part of one city

Historically we have only carried out this kind of analysis where we have universal credit data

We are now replicating this without UC data

Can this proactive approach work without UC data?

We are working with private sector clients now to use their data to try and identify people in their portfolio who are missing out

Using a small subset of data including;

- Age
- Housing status
- Relationship status
- Dependents
- Postcode / Postal area
- Income
- Savings
- Existing benefits

We have created a score which is designed to identify people most likely to be eligible

We can use this approach to get an understanding of those individuals likely to be positively impacted as well as those who aren't

Core use cases

Collections & recoveries

Many individuals in collections would benefit from a welfare / support assessment, but the complexity of the journey often makes this difficult for both parties to complete

Our targeted approach enables creditors to understand which customers are most likely to benefit and can then look to target these customers to go through the assessment journey, without impacting those for whom benefits are not available

Pre-arrears

In pre-arrears, many financial services organisations have tools and models to help them understand which customers are likely to enter into arrears. Often, however, there are limited tools to change this path for individuals

Income maximisation through the benefits calculator can make a material difference to that outcome when applied to the right individuals at the right time

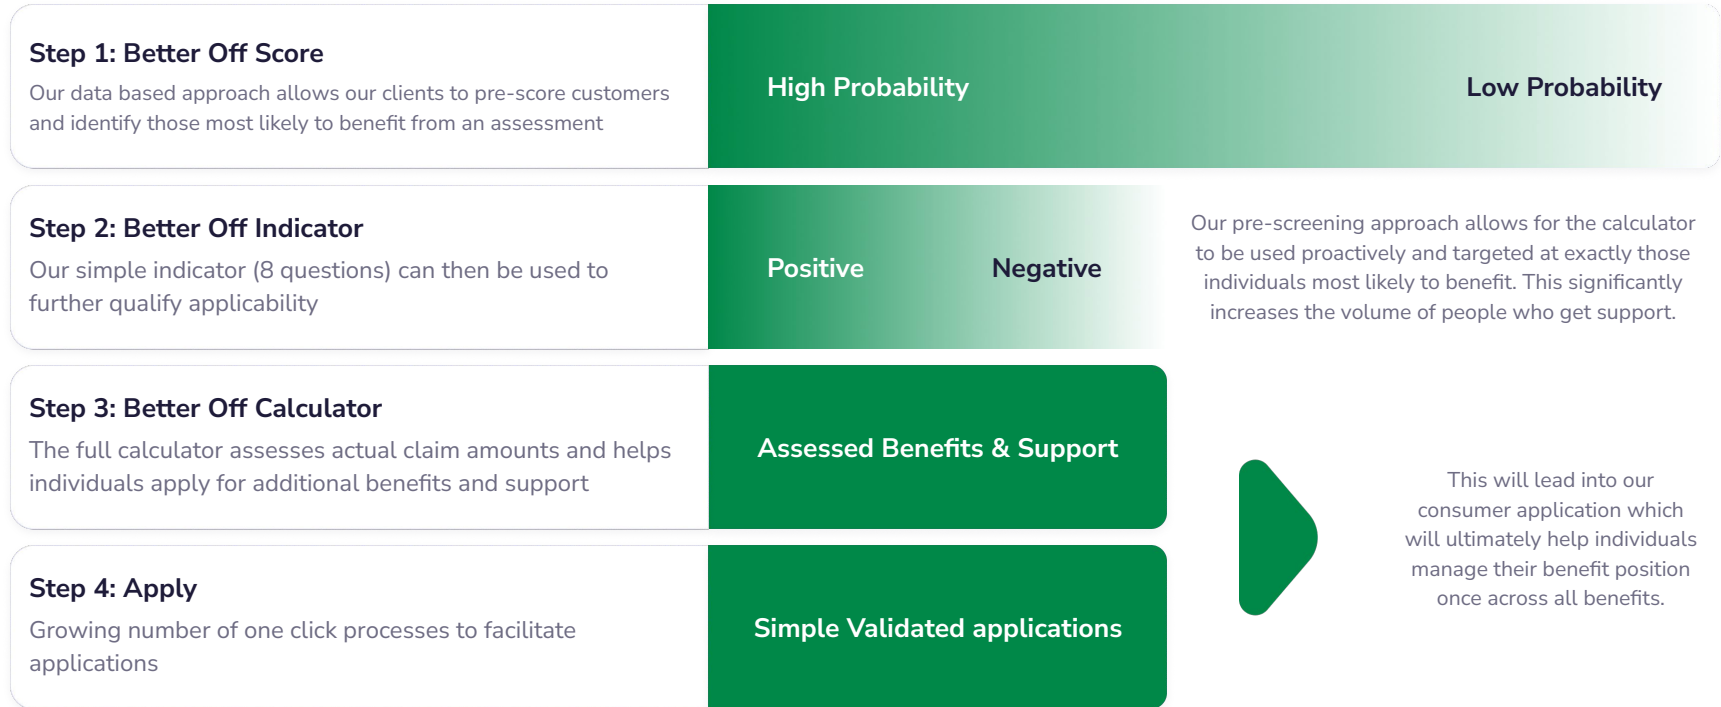

Persistent debt

Since the FCA introduced the regulations around persistent debt, creditors have a duty to help individuals with sustained credit card debt to exit that situation

Again, targeted assessment based on probability can play an important role in supporting a holistic solution

Even in 'prime' or 'near prime' portfolios, a large number of people can be eligible for benefits of an average per person of around £300–400 per month
